His son Alva, living in Rome, Georgia at the time, called and asked Kelly if he knew where Pa was. Kelly said no that everyone was out looking for him. Alva said he just walked in my door. Pa (John Thomas) had been selling vegetables and hiding the money until he got up enough to buy a train trip to Georgia. He lived around with each one of the sons until he got mad about something and then he would live with another one until he got mad at them and so on<sup>3</sup>.

<sup>21</sup> FGN: “-One experience I remember about her, Mary Dee: The women prisoners faked a fight in the restroom. Aunt Mary Dee went to stop the fight and they locked the door from the inside and almost beat her to death. Uncle Jack, who at that time was guarding near the kitchen, came out and broke the door down to get in to save her. She was hospitalized after the incident. I also remember her coming to see us and although I was only about 13 at the time, I was told not to get behind her. She always sat near a wall and was observant of everything and everyone in the room.”

Even though the name Davis is found in the obituary listed here and on the GleavesFamily.com website in the obituaries listed in "The Nahville Tennessean", the last name of Payne is being used until other sources can be found to verify that Davis is the correct maiden name.
