Why should our tears in sorrow flow
When God recalls his own,
And bids them leave a world of woe
For an immortal crown?
Then let our sorrows cease to flow,
God has recalled his own;
But let our hearts, in every woe,
Still say—Thy will be done.

IN MEMORY OF JAMES SMITH.

Was fell asleep in Jesus August 16th, 1873, in the 66th year of his age, with Christian fortitude, resigned to the will of God. He was a sympathetic man to all mankind, and is gone, as he so often has said, to his home in Heaven.

Lovely the hours as I led the hours
Since my dear husband is gone;
But in Heaven I hope to meet him,
Where sorrow will never come.

We miss thee, dear father, oh, how much
Our soul alone can tell.

He took thee from our loving arms,
He doeth all things well.

To his betrayed wife and children. H. SMITH.
